

Making a difference Goes Both Ways

Gosford RSL Max Potential Partnership working towards helping the Community

Rowan Rapisarda and his coach Kevin Ogilvie formed a partnership through the “Personal Leadership Development Program” Gosford RSL Max Potential 2011. The program is designed to connect community leaders with emerging leaders at school to build “Leadership Capacity” in the community.

Rowan (Left) and his coach Kevin (Right). “.....working together to develop a community service project, aimed at raising partial seizure awareness within the local area”.

Rowan and Kevin have already met several times at Central Coast Adventist School, focusing on setting & achieving goals. Rowan is working on enhancing key family relationships, while Kevin seeks to set up an organisation which will raise awareness about partial seizures.

Currently, the two are working together to develop a community service project, aimed at raising partial seizure awareness within the local area. This will target high schools and rotary clubs during July. We should expect to see great things from this young adult & former supermarket manager.